

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a silica, a slurry composition, and a method of their preparation. In particular, the silica 5 of the present invention includes aggregated primary particles. The slurry composition which incorporates the silica, is suitable for polishing articles and especially useful for chemical-mechanical planarization of semiconductor substrates and other microelectronic substrates.